WHAT IS ART?

Art History is the study of art from various periods, cultures, and parts of the world. It teaches students to interpret and understand works of art of many types, by learning about artists' lives and their societies.

Studio Art aims to strengthen a student's natural talent in either the fine arts or the various design fields by offering courses in painting, design, architecture, illustration, photography, video or computer graphics, among others.

WHAT CAN I DO WITH THE MAJOR?

Graduates with a focus on Art History can enter a wide range of professional careers including museums, galleries, auction houses, education, publishing and more. Those with a focus in Studio Art may prepare for careers in an array of fields such as fashion design, interior design, architecture, graphic design, video production, theater design or art therapy. Students in this major often choose to pursue graduate studies towards an M.A., Ph.D. or M.F.A. The Art major is also sound preparation for any professional field, such as law, medicine, psychology and others where graduate programs may prefer students with a broad intellectual background.
