WHAT ARE THE ARTS?

The Arts encompass a broad category of careers that involve individualized expression of creative or musical talent and ability in the fields of design, fine arts, entertainment, and the performing arts. Arts Administration is a field that focuses on the business aspect of the arts, filling the management and leadership functions in the arts. Art administrators can run arts centers, symphony orchestras, opera/ballet companies, choruses, museums, galleries, government and private arts agencies, community arts programs, and arts councils. Common departments in many of these large arts organizations include development, education, publications, public relations/publicity, membership, and sales.

OUTLOOK

Employment for Arts and Design Occupations is expected to grow by 4 percent from 2020 to 2030, according to the U.S. Department of Labor \(DOL\), slower than the average for all careers.

More workers will be needed to meet the growing demand for animation and visual effects in video games, movies, television, and on smartphones, as well as to help create visually appealing and effective layouts of websites and other media platforms. Other arts and design workers are employed in industries that are projected to decline, however, including publishing and manufacturing.
