

Considering Sponsorship & Work Authorization

When conducting an internship/job search as an international student, it is important to pay close attention to information about work authorization in the postings you see. F-1 students should look for internship/job postings that state the employer accepts CPT and/or OPT, or that visa sponsorship is available.

Companies with a history of sponsorship of F-1 students can be identified using the resources below. These resources provide information about companies who have sponsored for H-1B, which means it is very likely the company would also accept CPT, OPT, and STEM OPT. It is recommended to look at the websites of each of these companies to see if they have roles available that align with your qualifications and interests. These companies are a great starting point for an internship/job search, as it is less likely work authorization policies will present an obstacle for your candidacy.

<https://www.uscis.gov/tools/reports-and-studies/h-1b-employer-data-hub>

<https://www.e-verify.gov/>

<http://www.myvisajobs.com/>

It is also important that you have knowledge of CPT and OPT. International students should review information about Curricular Practical Training (CPT) and Optional Practical Training (OPT) on the Yeshiva University Office of International Services (OIS) website here and meet with an OIS team member with questions. Understanding what is involved with CPT and OPT is central to advocating for yourself when communicating with employers. Often times, employers will have questions about hiring an international student and work authorization, and coming into the hiring process with knowledge about these areas will help set you up for success.

New York-based Organizations Focused on International Individuals

The organizations below offer educational programs, social events, and networking opportunities, many of which are focused on international individuals. They also offer opportunities to build English communication skills.

Meetup Groups

Online platform for finding and building local communities via interest-based and identity-based groups. Great way to build and expand your network. Link below to New York International and Exchange Students Meetup Group.

<https://www.meetup.com/meetup-group-mipeilxr/>

English in Action

The English-Speaking Union is a non-profit with educational opportunities and cultural exchange programs.

<http://www.esuus.org/newyork/>

One to World

Cultural enrichment programs, including the opportunity to engage with local U.S. residents by sharing cultural experiences in the classroom, volunteering together, having dinner in residents' homes, etc.

<http://www.one-to-world.org/>

New York Toastmasters

Public speaking and leadership training program that meets weekly in midtown Manhattan.

<https://www.nytoastmasters.org/>

Yeshiva University

SHEVET GLAUBACH CENTER FOR CAREER
STRATEGY AND PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT